MARTIAL LAW. MILITARY NECESSITY. RETALIATION.

§ 1. A place, district, or country, invested or occupied by an enemy, stands, in consequence of the occupation, under the Martial Law of the investing or invading army, whether any proclamation declaring Martial Law, or any public warning to the inhabitants, has been issued or not. Martial Law is the immediate and direct effect and consequence of occupation or conquest.

The presence of a hostile army proclaims its Martial Law.

§ 2. Martial Law does not cease during the hostile occupation, until such time as the law of the conqueror has been established.

PARTICULARS OF ALLEGED CRIME

21 FEB 1946: GIVEN THE "WATER CURE" *

On 5 April 1943, victim was taken as a prisoner of war to the Japanese Military Police Headquarters at Fort Santiago, Manila, Philippine Islands, where he was imprisoned with seventeen unidentified Filipino prisoners in a cell about ten feet square, having no lights, no toilet facilities, no outside openings and only one air vent about eight inches square. He was given no food until the second day and then only a watery gruel of rice water and refuse from the guards' meal served in a wooden trough on the door twice a day. During the period of his imprisonment at Fort Santiago, victim was taken on three different occasions to an "interrogation room" for questioning by the Japanese Military Police, during the course of which questioning he was subjected to progressive degrees of physical punishment. During the first questioning, on 8 April 1943, he was slapped in the face and a lighted cigarette was extinguished on his bare chest. Following this ordeal, he was confined in solitary in a camp cell and required to sleep on a damp floor. During the second questioning which followed the first by about two days, he was slapped and beaten with fists in the face, kicked about the face and body, placed under a battery of lamps, and given the "water cure" three times interspersed with further slapping and beating. During the third questioning, victim was again slapped and beaten with fists, and suspended from the ceiling by his thumbs for about three hours. He was then lowered, revived, questioned again, and again suspended by his thumbs for about three hours. Victim was suspended twenty-four times by his thumbs on this third occasion, with his hands bound alternately in front and behind. On the twenty-third and twenty-fourth suspension, water was permitted to drop on his forehead at intervals of about five seconds for a period of about three hours. Victim was released on 23 April 1943 and delivered to Bilibid Prison, Manila. Before being released he signed, under threat of continued torture, a statement to the effect that he had not been afforded any inhumane treatment.

Victim: Miles A. Taulbee, 2nd Lt., ASN, O-2007806.
